Foreword

The number of library networks has increased by about 60 percent over the 5 years that have elapsed since the National Center for Education Statistics published its first directory of networks in 1980. The Directory is designed to ease communication and resource sharing by libraries across the Nation. This edition lists 968 organizations, with the following information provided for each: name of organization; acronym, if any; address, including zip code; name and title of the director of operations; and telephone number. Individual entries are accessible alphabetically, by State and within State.

We would like to express our appreciation to the officials of the organizations whose responses and encouragement made this Directory possible.

Library Networks, Alphabetically Within State 1

Alphabetical Index of Library Networks . . . 85

Introduction

Criteria for Inclusion

This directory lists the cooperating library organizations that met all of the following criteria:

1. The participants in the network are primarily or exclusively libraries.

2. The network, its participants, or both engage in cooperative activities beyond the scope of traditional interlibrary loan services as stated in the American Library Association Code.

3. The activities of the network extend beyond reciprocal borrowing.

4. The network operates for the mutual benefit of participating libraries.

5. The scope of the network is interinstitutional (i.e., beyond branch libraries within an organization, or under a common funding source such as school libraries in a municipality).

6. The scope of network activities involves resource sharing (e.g., interlibrary lending, equipment, staff with special skills, collection development, cooperative purchasing, etc.)

7. The operation of the network is based on an oral or written agreement between its members.

Directory Composition

This publication consists of a main listing of library networks by State. Within the State listing, networks are shown in alphabetical order. Each entry includes the network name, acronym, address, name and title of the director of operations, and telephone number.

The State listing is followed by an alphabetical listing of the networks.
